COMMUNITY BUILDING

Creative ways to keep your members and peers engaged

There are many creative ways to keep your members and peers engaged with some creative community-building activities. Here are some ideas to get you started:

- Start a book club or movie night
 - Check out our recommended book and film list
- Partner with another student group for a special event
 - Ex: Peace Action chapters, East Asian department, Women and Gender studies
- Invite a professor to speak
 - Ask a professor to speak on a topic related to Korea peace
- Make a lobby visit to your Representative's local office
- Collect petition signatures found here.
- Host a trivia night
 - Use Kahoot or another tool to host a fun trivia night to test your knowledge about the Korean War, US-North Korea relations, women's peace-building efforts, etc.
- Plan a debate
 - Have a friendly debate on Korea peace topics to sharpen your understanding of the issues and the opposition
- Have an open-mic night
 - Share testimonies, stories, and poems about what the legacy of the Korean War means to you
- Organize a Korean food potluck
 - Everyone loves free food! Have students make their favorite Korean dish or order from a local Korean restaurant
- Gather students together for the annual Korea Peace advocacy week.
